

Murry Bergtraum High School Mentees Volunteer at Food Pantry

fwa.org/spotlight/murry-bergtraum-high-school-mentees-volunteer-at-food-pantry/

Murry Bergtraum mentees and FWA member and mentor Kalinka Moudrova-Rothman join together to give back at the food pantry.

Mentees and mentors from Financial Women’s Association’s mentoring program for inner city girls at Murry Bergtraum High School in New York City volunteered at a food pantry in Manhattan on December 14th. The students in this program are underprivileged, but they partake in community service opportunities so they can give back to those who are less fortunate than they are.

Mentees pose for a picture in between helping those less fortunate.

This program is an opportunity to make a deep impact in the life of a high potential student. Interested in becoming a mentor? Contact programs@fwa.org to learn more.