As summer wound down and the crispness of fall touched the air, nearly 80 Financial Women's Association (FWA) members and guests joined together to celebrate the change of season at Le Cirque. Hosted by the Membership Committee, FWA President Katrin Dambrot welcomed everyone for an evening comprised of networking and learning more about one of the many benefits of FWA membership; being part of and actively participating in a committee.

FWA committee co-chairs and members alike shared their insights on the value of committee membership. Committee members wore name tags asking attendees to “Ask Me About” their committee, while members learned firsthand how joining a committee can expand their network and add immense value to their careers.

You must first become a member of the FWA to join a committee. To apply, click here. If you're interested in joining a committee, click here to engage with a committee where you can become a vital part of the overall success of the FWA.
