

5 Critical Keys That Will Create a Blueprint for Your Career Goals in the Digital Age Highlights

fwa.org/spotlight/5-critical-keys-that-will-create-a-blueprint-for-your-career-goals-in-the-digital-age-highlights/

On February 29th, over 70 attendees enjoyed an evening of networking over cocktails followed by our engaging, talented and multi-faceted speaker.

Our Emerging Leader's co-chairs Yai Vargas, Jacqueline Lee, and Stephanie Ackler from Wells Fargo Advisors opened the event. Each spoke about their FWA experience how wonderful it is to be a part of such a great organization promoting women in Finance.

Linda Hannett a Certified Life and Executive Career Coach presented her "5 Critical Keys That Will Create a Blueprint for Your Career Goals in the Digital Age." Linda frequently drew from her experience in the workforce. She offered realistic actionable steps you can take for your career. From assessing your strengths to leverage to do what is your passion to having the digital awareness and tools to compete for the interview all the way to how to manage the offer.

Lively audience participation

The Q&A session demonstrated that Linda's program resonated with the audience. Many of the attendees were able to connect with Linda in the following weeks to speak to her on an individual basis. Thanks Linda for being so generous with your time.

Finally a big thanks to Wells Fargo for their generous use of the conference space and the wonderful spread for the attendees. Thank you Stephanie Ackler for making the connection with Wells and for sharing your FWA experience.

Thank you Emerging Leaders for your partnership. FWA-WestCon truly enjoyed collaborating on this event.

Highlights

FWA Members and guests network after the presentation

(l-r): Jacqueline Lee, Emerging Leaders cochair; Brenda Griebert, FWA-West-Con cochair; Presenter Linda Hannett, Mary Gilmartin, West-Con cochair; with Yai Vargas, Emerging Leaders cochair.